I have 43 years of experience advising and representing clients in contract negotiations, including serving as outside counsel for clients with hundreds of agreements with OEMs, customers, content providers, technology service suppliers, data analytics services, cloud services providers, telecommunications providers, and software developers. Other contract support matters include managing all contacts with third parties upon wind down and assumption of a client's business, and drafting and negotiating terms for mobile apps, SDKs, and use of open source software.

I am a frequent speaker on various topics, including open source software, emerging trends in contracts law, complex contracting, and outsourcing.

MICHAEL B. MILSOM

I have practiced corporate law for 40 years. I have deep experience working as a legal advisor to senior management teams, having served as the General Counsel or other senior in-house counsel for American Cablesystems, American Radio Systems Corporation, Verestar, Inc., and American Tower Corporation. All of these companies were startups with rapid, high-volume acquisition strategies, and while there, I was largely the sole in-house lawyer managing their numerous stock and asset transactions.

My broad in-house experience has afforded me a keen understanding of business needs and goals, and how legal support can best be delivered to achieve them.

ANGENETTE M. FRINK
