I have practiced corporate law for 40 years. I have deep experience working as a legal advisor to senior management teams, having served as the General Counsel or other senior in-house counsel for American Cablesystems, American Radio Systems Corporation, Verestar, Inc., and American Tower Corporation. All of these companies were startups with rapid, high-volume acquisition strategies, and while there, I was largely the sole in-house lawyer managing their numerous stock and asset transactions.

My broad in-house experience has afforded me a keen understanding of business needs and goals, and how legal support can best be delivered to achieve them.
