

Scope of Services

MWH education attorneys are acutely aware of the unique regulatory framework governing school districts, public and private universities, and other educational institutions. We stand prepared to address, handle, and advise on a wide range of issues that may arise in school settings, such as issues related to premises and general liability, student confidentiality and privacy, special education staffing, school board governance, discrimination, and retaliation. Our attorneys diligently defend and litigate on behalf of teachers and support staff, administrators, district-level employees, stakeholders, and those acting as third-party contractors.

Our Education Law team has a deep understanding of Title IX and related civil rights laws relevant to students and offers comprehensive counsel to ensure total legal compliance with these statutes. While MWH is similarly well-equipped to advise on general risk mitigation and matters related to employment and labor, including contract renewal and staff benefit plans, we are also fully prepared to provide counsel and robust litigation on behalf of a district or institution in relation to criminal charges levied against a singular employee or group of staff members. We are dedicated to providing holistic legal support and superb litigation services to schools, their staff, and their students, and to protecting the value these educational institutions bring to their communities.
