

Scope of Services

Our attorneys have significant experience, both in and outside the courtroom, in handling commercial transportation matters on behalf of trucking companies and transportation brokers. We provide our clients with tailored advice to address each unique situation, taking into consideration the client's business goals and desired outcomes. Clients turn to us for legal guidance on a range of issues, including personal injury and wrongful death claims, property damage, cargo and freight claims, business interruption, insurance and indemnification matters, and compliance with state and federal laws and regulations.

We understand that a rapid and thorough response from an experienced legal team is critical to protecting our clients. With a 24-hour response team in place, we can provide immediate assistance and take action to deploy investigators and experts to evaluate a scene and preserve crucial evidence. Our attorneys offer prompt post-accident legal advice and counsel to the company and the driver.

Furthermore, we deliver thorough and early liability evaluations, providing key insight about document preservation to put our clients in the best possible position to defend against spoliation claims.

- Brokers and Shippers
- Freight Handlers
- Interstate and Intrastate Motor Carriers
- Transportation and Trucking Service Providers

We collaborate with our extensive network of industry experts to provide critical advice and counsel about the complex engineering, medical, and technical issues associated with commercial trucking litigation claims. We formulate effective defense strategies for a wide range of liability claims, from personal injury, property damage, and cargo claims to matters involving multiple plaintiffs, catastrophic injuries, and wrongful death claims.

MWH Law Group focuses on commercial trucking and transportation defense litigation throughout Iowa, Illinois, and Wisconsin.
